EHMKE IS TOO STRONG IN GAME ENDING 6 TO 2

Has Much Better of Argument With Mogridge as Nationals Drop Fifth Straight-Must Win Today or Go Fourth.

BY DENMAN THOMPSON.

ETROIT, Mich, July 23.-With the loss of their third successive game to the Tigers today, 6 to 2, vanished the last chance of the Nationals to achieve as good as an even break on their road trip, the tally for their twenty-one games played now being nine victories and an even dozen defeats, with only one more contest booked.

There are no alibis to offer for this latest upset, which, by the way, was the fifth reverse in a row for the Griffmen and leaves them where another setback tomorrow means they will return in fourth place, the Bengals now being only half a game in their rear.

For only the second time this year, as it can be recalled offhand, Mogridge merited defeat, for he was outpitched by Howard Ehmke, while the Jungaleers also outfielded and outbatted the tourists, who proved unable to take advantage of numerous opportunities to score and but for the generosity of the Cobbmen would have been blanked, while the enemy, when not fairly earning tallies, was having the task made easy for them by the usual sloppy Griffithian de-Mogridge escaped unscathed in the opener, when, with one out, Bush was credited with a single on a rap o'Rourke juggled and took third on Heilmann's safety to center. Here Veach popped to Harris and Shanks leaped to spear Flagstead's liner with one hand.

But it was different in round two, when the southpaw was nicked for a pair of runs with Milan appearing in the role of both villain and hero. Shorten started with a healthy clout to right center for three bases and Mogridge failed to get the ball over for Jones. Shorten scored on a stiff single to right by Bassler, Jones going to third as Milan momentarily fumbled.

ing to third as Milan momentarily fumbled.

Then Jones tallied on Ehmke's lucky handle hit to the same sector. Bassler reaching the far corner and Ehmke second when Zeb played hide and seek with the ball after stopping it. The bases were loaded and Mogridge bruised Blue's ankle with a pitched ball. Milan held the runners on their bases after getting under a loft by Bush and then contributed a bit of stellar stuff by taking Heilmann's fly and doubling Bessler at the plate with a great line throw to Torres.

Scere Again in Fourth.

Only tree Tigers faced Mogridge in round three, but in the following frame they bunched sufficient bingles for another marker. Jones opened with a Texas leaguer, on which Harris taxas leaguer, on which Harris barely got his fingertips. He was forced when Mogridge ferried Bassler's bunt to O'Rourke. Bessler took second on Ehmke's single to center and scored when Blue duplicated, Ehmke being trapped between second and third. Rice saved further embarrassment by spearing Bune hand while runtiles. Stan singled to open the frame and was faged silic ing back into first after being caught apparently trying to pull a delayed steal. Shanks' roller to Bine would have scored from there on O'Rourke's single, which followed. Blackle then was tossed out stealing.

Griffs Aided to Score. That the Griffmen scored in the fifth was due solely to a lapse by Lu Blue. Torres beat out a swinging bunt and Mogridge filed to Shorten. Blue had plenty of time to start a double play when Judge rolled to him, but he contented himself with retiring Josephus. This brought Milan up and Zeb cashed Torres with his third straight safety, a slashing triple to center. He was left on third when Rice again lofted to Shorten.

to Shorten. Brilliant fielding by Shanks forced Brilliant fielding by Shanks forced Flagstead after the latter hit safely in the fifth, but in the succeeding stanza O'Rourke presented the Tygers with a tally. With two out, Ehmke connected for his third straight bingle, a two bagger to left, and he scored when O'Rourke put Blue on second with a heave over Judge's head. Harris died trying to stretch his Texas leaguer with one out in the sixth and a single by Shanks that ensued was wasted when O'Rourke bounced to the pitcher's box, while in the seventh Judge's safety with two down was nulled by Flagstead, who gobbled up Milan's sturdy bid for a fourth consecutive bingle.

Miller's Hit Brings Run.

Miller's Hit Brings Run.

Miller paved the way for Washington's second run in round 8, when he hit the left field fence on the fly for two bases, after Rice had rolled to Sargent. Harris singled to left and Miller was safe at the plate when Bassler dropped Veach's perfect peg. Harris reaching the midway. Stanley stole third as Shanks fanned and stayed there when O'Rourke was victimized on strikes for a second time.

Another pair of Tyger tallies accurate the company runners caught by reckless base running, while New York made three double plays on fly balls. As a result the champions scored in only one inning, the third, when hits by O'Nelll, Jamieson, Wambsganss and Gardner, and a sacrifice fly by Speaker, produced three runs. Miller's Hit Brings Run.

Nationals Are Angling

For Another Portsider Manager Griffith of the Nationals hopes he has landed another southpaw hurler. He has made a big offer to Shreveport of the Texas League for a hefty southpaw by the name of Byrd, who has been going great guns in the oil region. Griff is so anxious to bolster up his team that he intends to hit the trail Nemits, the big portsider, whom Joe Engel dug up in Old Knintuck, is due to report here in the next couple days.

Caught on the Fly

DETROIT. July 23.—Johnson will pitch in the final of the set tomorrow, which winds up the jaunt of the Nationals, who will leave Detroit tomorrow night for Washington, where they are due to arrive about-7:30 o'clock Monday evening. Following the opening game here Wednesday, in which Johnson held Detroit to six hits, although beaten 2 to 1, in ten innings, several of the Tigers, including Donie Bush, said Walter never displayed more stuff, even in the heyday of his career. Wildness, due to the fact that he was working for the first time after a lay-off of two weeks, proved Johnson's undoing then. If he has recovered his aim Barney may stand the Bengals on their heads tomorrow.

Here is what one Detroit critic thinks of Stanley Harris. H. G. Salsinger of the News penned it: "Eddie Collins is passing as the world's greatest second baseman and the successor to the crown is young Harris of Washington. The more we see of Harris the more impressive he becomes."

Ehmke had Mogridge's range. The Tiger combed George for two singles and a double and narrowly missed getting another safety.

Ehmke hurt his leg sliding into the plate in the eighth and withdrew, Middleton hurling the last inning.

Sisler was put out of the game in the fourth inning, when he disputed a decision at first base.

Sisler, who has always been regarded as one of the most peaceful players, had the first fistic encounter of his major league career. When ordered off the field by Umpire Hildebrand at the beginning of the fifth inning. Sisler attacked him and struck him on the jaw. Other players interfered and led Sisler away from the arbiter.
